WALLS COME TUMBLING DOWN... One of the last remaining walls of the old "May Building" in downtown Elba comes tumbling down as demolition crews near completion of the project. All that now remains at the site is loose bricks, and the cleanup of the grounds should be completed next week.

County tobacco tax hits snag

The Coffee County Commission met in regular session on Monday, Nov. 24, at the courthouse in Enterprise and agreed to put the proposed tobacco tax on hold pending the outcome of a lawsuit in Geneva County concerning the legality of such a tax.

County Attorney Warren Rowe told the commission that the tobacco industry had filed a suit against Geneva County challenging the recent implementation of a tobacco tax in that county and pledged to file a similar suit against Coffee County if it went ahead and implemented a tax approved at the commission meeting on Monday, Nov. 10.

Rowe stated he would defend the commission if it was sued and would sue anyone on behalf of the county, but said it was foolish to implement the tax when it was almost a sure thing that such action would result in a lawsuit.

The commissioners agreed with Rowe's recommendation and voted to rescind its earlier motion to implement the tax until the suit in Geneva County was settled. The suit is expected to take six months to resolve and will delay any collection of the tobacco tax, which was earmarked for use by the Coffee County Firefighters Association.

The bi-weekly meeting began at 9 a.m., and after the routine approval of minutes the commission was presented with a bill for legal fees incurred during the recent court case which resulted in the redistricting of the Coffee County Commission and commissions in nine surrounding counties. The total bill was in the amount of $355,000 and Rowe estimated the county's share would be $13,000.

The commission discussed the bill, but agreed to table any action on paying the bill and to challenge the amount of the bill in court.

In other action at the meeting, the commission:

- opened bids on extending water lines for the South Crenshaw County Water and Fire Protection Authority (expenses to be paid by a grant);
- heard a representative of Tele-Plus Communications make a presentation concerning the installation of his company's system at the county courthouses at a cost of $7,390 a month for three years on a lease-purchase plan;
- was told work had begun on replacing two bridges on County Road 77 in the northeast corner of the county;
- learned that work would begin next week to repair a gully threatening a road in south Coffee County;
- as told a bridge on a paved road near Brooklyn had collapsed causing the road to be closed;
- agreed to send out invitations to bid on office furniture to be used in the Circuit Clerk's office in Elba;
- voted 5-2 (Bryan and Eagerton opposing) to reinstate funds in the amount of $9,023.35 for membership in the Southeast Alabama Regional Planning and Development Commission that had been left out of the budget due to budget cuts;

- appointed Commissioner Robert Stephens to the SEARPC board to replace Commissioner Sid Averett, who requested to be removed;
- voted 5-1 (Eagerton in opposition) to give a $3,000 donation to the Battens Fire and Water Authority, despite an absence of funds in the budget for such a donation;

- was told that a county resident would request county aid in covering an old landfill site that had been abandoned in the northern part of the county; and
- adjourned until Dec. 8.

Kinston basketball suspended by AHSAA

The Alabama High School Athletic Association announced this week that it has suspended the entire basketball program at Kinston High School pending a hearing on Monday, Dec. 1, concerning an incident that occurred at a basketball game last week at which an official was struck by a Kinston fan.

The suspension affects all basketball teams at the school, including junior high and girls teams, and it has yet to be determined whether any games postponed during the suspension will be replayed or forfeited.

According to Kinston basketball coach Pete Kelley, the incident occurred during the third quarter of a game Friday night, Nov. 21, between Kinston and Pleasant Home, at Pleasant Home. Coach Kelley stated a Kinston player fouled out of a game, and while he was talking to the player he heard someone call his name and he turned around just as a fan struck one of the officials at the game.

"It all happened so fast nobody really knew what had happened," said Kelley. "The game was going along without any trouble and there was no way of knowing the incident was about to happen. The incident didn't originate on the court and no players from either side played any part in it. The fan apparently ran out onto the court and struck the official between anyone realized who was going on. Neither school is to blame for what happened -- it was just a regrettable incident that occurred."

The official, assigned from the Brewton Officials Association, reportedly remained on the court for several minutes after the attack until rescue squad members could arrive and check on his condition. The official was originally believed to have suffered a broken jaw; however, after medical examination it was found that there were no fractures and the injuries were not as severe as feared.

Kinston had a varsity, junior varsity and girls basketball game scheduled for this week against Opp, but all were postponed until the hearing with state officials.

"The public must understand that this type of action will not be condoned at any athletic event," stated AHSAA Executive Director Bubba Scott, "and until a hearing can be held the only course of action was to suspend the basketball program at Kinston."

The suspension is not a condemnation of the coaches or administration at Kinston High School, but the public must know that it cannot take matters into its own hands.

"At the hearing it will be decided whether any games scheduled during the suspension will be replayed and what further action will be taken."

Warrants reportedly were sworn out against two Kinston men following the incident, however, no further details were available.

Council raises garbage rates for businesses

The Elba City Council met Monday evening with all present except ailing John W. Sharpless. The council bought a new police car, adopted a housekeeping ordinance and again tackled the commercial garbage pickup.

Cook Chevrolet was low bidder on a new police car with a bid of $11,647.79. The only other bidder was Bill Russell Ford of Birmingham and their bid was $342 higher.

Police Chief John White reported to the council that the new intoxi-lyzer machine was working "and is fantastic." He said otherwise the department work had been routine.

Mayor Bob English commended the police department on their work during the state football playoffs. He said traffic control had been great and the escort vehicles to Sitas was also very professional.

The city council adopted an ordinance concerning the use of the chemical test for intoxication of automobile drivers. It was due to the purchase of the new intoxilyzer and recommended changes in local law from the state offices.

Pickup of commercial garbage consumed most of the council meeting. Mayor English reported on the time survey requested by the council. He presented the council with a list of businesses that needed everyday pickup and how long the truck was at their businesses.

English also presented the group with the estimated cost of operating the one truck with two men. After computing this and figuring in a proposed increase on some users, he disclosed the department would take in $28,620 in revenue opposed to an operating cost of $57,822.70. This would leave a deficit of $29,202.70 to be absorbed by the general fund. This was figured on 2470 hours per year at $23.41 per hour for two men, truck repair, gasoline and depreciation.

The council members discussed the deficit, but in the end approved the new rates and the change to three-day-a-week pickup for the other 118 commercial accounts.

English expressed an opinion that this change from everyday service would cut some of the overtime now experienced by the department.

The new schedule will go into effect on January 1, with continuing review of the accounts to move them into or out of the daily pickup group. Rates for the group of everyday pickup vary from $15.00 a month while the three-day service accounts remain at $10 a month.

Council members were told that federal law now removes them from any control over the rates of Cable TV and the recently-announced increase by Storck Cable was their decision and theirs alone.

14 people expected to die on state roads during holidays

The Alabama Dept. of Public Safety estimates that 14 people will be killed in traffic accidents during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, according to Col. Byron Prescott, department director.

The holiday began at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 26, and ends at midnight Sunday, Nov. 30, for a total of 102 hours. Last year there were eight traffic fatalities during the holiday, five rural and three urban.

Prescott said he expects a heavy traffic flow as motorists take to Alabama's highways to be with family and friends over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Prescott urged all drivers to exercise extra caution while driving during this and other holiday periods. "To help ensure the safest holiday possible, we encourage all motorists to drive defensively and courteously, remembering that they share the roadways with many other drivers," he said.

All available state troopers will be patrolling to remove dangerous drivers from the roadways, Prescott said. He said a federal overtime program aimed at speed limit enforcement will allow additional troopers to patrol during the holiday.

Prescott urged motorists to obey the speed limit and all other traffic laws, use safety belts and child restraints and never drink and drive. "The drinking driver is the greatest threat to traffic safety, and Alabama's laws provide the means to deal firmly with those who commit the crime of driving under the influence," Prescott said.

Alabama's DUI law provides for attendance of DUI school, loss of the driving privilege for 90 days, imprisonment of up to one year and a fine of $250 to $1,000 upon first conviction. Second and subsequent convictions carry increasingly severe penalties.

Mistrial is declared in Tucker murder trial

A Pike County jury of seven men and six women deliberated for nearly four hours last Thursday before announcing it could not reach a verdict in the murder-for-hire trial of LaDonna Tucker, prompting Circuit Judge Riley Green to declare the trial a mistrial, setting the stage for a third trial in the 3-year-old murder case.

Mrs. Tucker, formerly of Enterprise, was originally found guilty of capital murder and sentenced to life in prison in March, 1982; however, the Alabama Supreme Court reversed the decision stating the state couldn't try Tucker on capital murder charges and ordered a second trial. The trial was held in Troy after a successful motion for a change in venue.

Mrs. Tucker will be retried in the murder charge involving the 1981 death of her husband, and attorneys on both sides expressed confidence of the outcome of the third trial.

Black male certified to stand trial as adult

A 17-year-old black male facing three felony charges in connection with a recent crime spree in Elba has been certified to stand trial as an adult by District Judge Gary McAliley.

Tim Maurice Mitchell, formerly of Florida who moved to Elba in October to live with relatives, was arrested recently by Elba police and charged with two counts of 3rd degree burglary and one count of 2nd degree theft, as well as one additional misdemeanor charge.

Factors considered by the judge at the certification hearing included the serious nature of the charges, the previous history of the accused and the best interest of the community.

Bond was set at $3,000 on each charge.

Four injured in two-car accident

A two-vehicle accident on Saturday, Nov. 22, at the intersection of Alabama 203 (Bypass) and Highway 87 resulted in major damage to both vehicles and sent four people to the Elba General Hospital with serious injuries.

According to police reports, an '81 Mercury driven by Charlie Dawkins of Holiday, Fla., made a left turn from Ala. 203 onto Highway 87 and failed to yield to a pickup truck driven by Billy Rex Veasey of Elba, which resulted in a collision between the two vehicles.

Billy Rex Veasey was transported to the hospital by private vehicle, while Teletha Veasey (a passenger in the pickup) was taken to the hospital by the Elba Rescue Squad along with Dawkins and Mattie Dawkins, a passenger in the car.

Brainstorms

With Ferrin Cox

We traveled to Silas Friday night for THE football game of the week. Of course it is always nice to win a game but it is much nicer to come away from a community with good feelings about the people. From the time we drove into the parking lot at the stadium, we met nothing but nice people. The ladies in the concession stands, the fans along the sidelines and those in the stands made us feel good. They enjoy football but apparently share our feelings that it is only a game and should be enjoyed as such. One young lady who had picked at me from the endzone as I was making pictures ran onto the field after the game and expressed her hopes that we go all the way. We like the people of Silas.

The football team made some mistakes last Friday night and we all saw them do it. We hope they learn from the mistakes and don't repeat them again. Ever. The band did a great job on the field and had Silas folks dancing in the aisles. We enjoyed it all. However, we share the opinions of many that they also made a mistake. The decision not to wear uniforms took a lot away from their appearance. None of us is perfect, but we progress only when we learn from our mistakes. I hope the band learned from theirs.

Coffee County road crews came in for some undeserved criticism last week. Their machinery was seen loading debris from the demolition of the old May building in downtown Elba. Well this was good because they had been given the broken bricks, etc., to be used to fill in washes along the roadsides within the county. Normally the county has to pay for this material, called rip rap, but they had a chance to get it free just by hauling it away and alerting truck advantage of the offer. The fact that a demolition contractor profited by it also shouldn't make the deal a no-no.

The Christmas season is upon us again and it seems we have just finished one. Local merchants are adding some shopping hours to their days for the benefit of the local Christmas shoppers. Show your appreciation to these folks by shopping with them... first.

Hunting season is upon us again and every hunter needs to be a little more careful. We read where two teenage boys were killed over the weekend in Alabama because other hunters "thought" wrong. All the wrongdoings are not mistakes, however. In Tennessee game wardens have successfully used a stuffed deer to bag a number of roadside hunters. It is against the law in most states to shoot from the road, yet they find hunters who will shoot that stuffed deer more than once sitting right there in the car or truck. They fail to understand... and so do I - why real hunters keep shooting after the deer doesn't fall or run off.

Ted Bundy is still in the news. We read a few days ago that he is not the only one upset with the stay granted him by the federal judges. A group of protesters paraded and displayed banners that hit straight to the core. A man who is convicted of three murders and accused of so many more gets very little sympathy from those of us who don't admire such people.

President Reagan is still trying to climb out of the hole he dug with the arms sales to Iran. We don't know what the final outcome will be, but feel we have talked about the matter long enough. Now some of his closest friends are strongly suggesting he fire someone because of the matter. He has already said it was his decision - so just which one will be fired? One cabinet member was opposed to the deals, yet there are suggestions of firing him because it all went sour! What scares us about all this is the ongoing nagging of concern about activities humans engage in in the name of the good old USA. They tell us one thing and all the time are doing exactly the opposite. It worries me - cause this is America.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: I write this in the hopes that someone somewhere might learn from our tragedy.

In 1980, the Alabama legislature enacted what has been described by the State Superintendent of Education, Dr. Wayne Teague, as "the worst piece of legislation ever enacted against the school children of Alabama." This act was known as the "Church School Act" wherein any organization who would call itself a church had the right to set up a school and not be subject to accreditation, control or monitoring by any state or federal educational authority. I realize there are indeed some church schools operating in Alabama and other states that are accredited by the State Department of Education and are outstanding academic schools. I also realize that our children need to be taught about God. However, many of the other "church schools" are not so accredited. When you ask them if they are accredited, most of them respond by telling you that they are. However, they would strongly recommend that any parent interested in sending their children to such institutions determine beforehand who is the accrediting authority.

As a parent, if you love and care for your children's education, it is of paramount importance that you inquire as to the accreditation of these facilities. Most of these institutions are so academically insufficient that the military will not recognize their diplomas. Most of these institutions are staffed by non-college educated personnel with little or no teaching or academic background.

My purpose for writing this letter is to warn all parents of school children who are considering enrolling their children in such institutions to please check their backgrounds very closely. My husband, our little girl and I have suffered a personal tragedy as a result of a church school that our now deceased son attended. He was tragically killed when he was allowed to enter the street where he was struck by an automobile. The teacher was at least twenty feet away from the road and didn't even know what had happened until she saw Chad lying on the ground. We filed lawsuit against the school only because they refused to accept any responsibility for the accident. In the lawsuit, the State Superintendent of Education, Wayne Teague, testified in our behalf that the standard of care in supervising our child was below the standard in a public school. This accident happened because the school was daily going across the business State Highway 52 in order to get to a park where they played. I don't believe this would have happened in a public school and had Chad been enrolled in a public school, we would have him today. We prevailed in our lawsuit (it wasn't easy) so that a judgement was rendered against the school. The amount of that judgement is not important. Nothing will bring Chad back to us.

What is important is that it serves as a reminder to parents everywhere that they should check into the educational facilities into which they enroll their children. We wanted what was best for our little boy, but we made a mistake by enrolling him in Victory Baptist Academy in Hartford, Alabama. I urge and caution parents to take the necessary precautions and adequately investigate a school before enrolling your most precious assets, your children. Remember a child is not responsible for his own safety.

Sincerely,
Linda McSwain

Nursing Home Spotlight

With Shirley Wise

Mrs. Gladys Holley

Thanksgiving is upon us and our Very Special Person for this week is indeed a very special lady by the name of Gladys Cleona Allen Holley, who just happens to have a birthday this coming Saturday, Nov. 29.

This will be her 76th birthday by the way, so we'd like to wish you, Miss Gladys, a "Happy Birthday" just a few days early.

In appearance Miss Gladys is a petite lady with pretty white curly hair as soft as a baby's; a smooth, rosy complexion, and pretty bluish-green eyes.

Hands which had once lovingly held a baby, tenderly dried a tear from a child's eye; and briskly mopped a kitchen floor - these work-worn hands were busy all the time I was there - wiping a table, stirring a pot, mending a garment. Who can guess where Miss Gladys' mind was taking her wandering down nostalgic roads once traveled long ago in a time long ago.

She was born November 29, 1910, in the vicinity of Perry's Store Community, one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Littleton Lafayette Allen, whom everyone called "L.L."

Mr. L.L. was a farmer; Mrs. Allen was the former Lennie Leona Mathis. Both of them were born in Pike County, near Troy.

The brothers and sisters of Miss Gladys are:

Thelma Anderson, who resides in Opp, and whose husband Grady is deceased;

Euell, who died when he was 18 years old of pneumonia;

Bertha Gay, who lives in Tampa, Fla., with her husband, Theo;

Ruby Moulton, who is a resident of Plant City, Fla., and whose husband Horace is deceased;

Woodrow, deceased, whose wife, the former Dorothy Johnson, a Brantley native, now lives in Plant City, Fla.; and Bernice Gilbert, who lives in Elba and whose husband Joe is deceased.

Miss Gladys married Mr. Joseph Bascom Holley, whom everyone knew as "Bud," in July of 1926.

Mr. Bud was born November 9, 1902, in the Piney Grove Community, one of 10 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Elam Edward Holley, whom everyone called "E.E."

Mr. Holley was a farmer, who homesteaded the Piney Grove homestead. Mrs. Holley was the former Melissa Kilpatrick.

Miss Gladys' daughter, Maxine Murph, who so kindly and sweetly gave us the information for this article, told us that her brother recalled their grandfather, Mr. E.E. telling him when he was a small boy, that when he was clearing the land for the old family homestead, the squirrels were so plentiful and unafraid of humans that they would jump on his shoulders and play around his feet!

Another story Maxine recalled her brother saying their grandfather told him was one of him (Mr. E.E.) floating down the river on a raft from one of the Carolinas to Alabama in the late 1800's. At three, adventurous folk of old who dared to trek into new and uncharted territory, seeking better lives for themselves and their families.

Mr. Bud passed away August 1, 1969.

His nine brothers and sisters are: Ed, deceased, whose wife was Mary, also deceased, and they made their home in Greenville;

Ervin, deceased, whose wife, the former Ruby Stevens, lives in Samson;

John E., deceased, and he and his wife lived in the In Community;

Alvin, who is married to the former Thelma Pearson, and they make their home out from Samson, in the Sellersville Community;

Lena, deceased, who was married to Wash Weeks, also deceased, and they resided on Samson route;

Lillie Davis, who resides in Columbus, Ga.;

Pearl, who is married to Homer Pearson and they live in Enterprise;

Beatrice Wright, whose husband Will is deceased, and she lives in Brantley; and Ira Mae Lee, whose husband Doc is deceased and she resides in Phenix City.

It is interesting to note that Alvin and Pearl married brothers and sisters - Thelma and Homer Pearson.

Miss Gladys has been a resident of the Elba Nursing Home since Dec. 12, 1985. Her roommates are the Messademes Mildred Harper, Vera Greer and Violenia Wilkinson.

She is the mother of three children:

Harold Rogene, who died at the age of 18 months. He was a diabetic. A son, Albenia Foster, lives in Samson with his wife, the former Versie Jo Peacock, a Samson native. Mr. Albenia is semi-retired and Miss Versie Jo has a day care center in their home.

They are the parents of four children: Yolanda Jane Kimball, Samson, the mother of two; Linda Gay Vann, Samson, and she and her husband Jimmy are the parents of three, included one deceased; Virginia Ruth Mock, Samson, who with her husband Ronny have two children; and Glenda Kay Chancey, Opp, and she and her husband Jackie have two children.

Miss Gladys' only daughter is the aforementioned Maxine Murph, who is a homemaker. She is married to Jesse G. Murph, who is disabled.

Maxine is the mother of five children: the former Patsy Qualis, an Elba native, reside in Tampa, Fla., with their two children; Scotty Dewayne, who lives in Dothan with his wife Donna, a Dothan native, and their two children; Karen, who is married to Tim Walton and they live in Enterprise with their two children; Wendell Terry, who is the father of two children, and he and his wife Cheryl, a Dothan native, reside in Dothan; and Kimmy Arlon, who is unmarried, lives in Elba and is employed with IGA in Enterprise.

All the above gives Miss Gladys nine grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren (including the one deceased) who lovingly call her "Ma."

Maxine had the following nice things to say about her mother:

"She was always patient with us; no one could be strict - she was the disciplinarian in the family. I could get around my daddy, but not Mama. But, we could always talk to her - she always had time for us. She'd always help anybody who needed it. She really loved her family and did for them - even the great-grandchildren."

She was just a good person - an extra-special person. She enjoyed going to church, and believed in my brother and me doing right. She wanted us to be good and behave, and if we didn't, she'd really get us!

"She'd make us go to the peach tree for a switch and I've had to go there many a time! And, on several occasions I'd get a little small twig and she'd make me go back and get another one - a larger one," she said, chuckling.

"Bye bye."

Along with wishing "Happy Birthday" again to Miss Gladys, we'd also like to extend best wishes to Miss Mary Olean Kelley, whose birthday is the same day as Miss Gladys, and Miss Cesta Korus, whose special day is Thursday, Nov. 28, happy birthday, ladies!

Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Eph. 5:20

Natural Gas Rates Have Been Increased

The Southeast Alabama Gas District last increased its rates in September 1984.

Our supplier has increased the wholesale cost of the Natural Gas which we distribute. It is therefore necessary for us to adjust our rates to maintain the financial well-being of the District.

The table below illustrates the increase in our General Service Rates. Column "A" gives the rates established September 20, 1984 and Column "B" gives the new rates effective November 20, 1986, which will be reflected on bills received by our customers after a 30 day usage from the effective date.

David and his men returned home only to find that an enemy had invaded their city, burned it and taken all the women and children captive. What a distressing situation!

And, if all this wasn't bad enough, now the people spoke of stoning David! The Bible says that "David was greatly distressed, for the people spoke of stoning him..." (I Samuel 30:6).

But in the midst of this gloomy, dark situation, the Bible also says, "But David encouraged himself in the Lord his God" (I Samuel 30:6).

You see, when David was in distress, he knew how to get out. He looked to the Lord. And the same applies to your situation today. God is ready and waiting to "encourage" you. "If you will only look to Him, no matter how low you may feel, the arms of the Lord are outstretched and waiting for you."

Why not turn your eyes upward, begin to sing songs of praise, read the Word of the Lord, commune with Him through prayer and fellowship with His people?

PECAN TREES AROUND THE HOME

There are many pecan trees in Coffee County which could contribute more than just shade. Although pecan trees conserve energy by keeping houses and grounds cooler in summer and warmer in winter, they can also add to the beauty of the landscape and provide food and additional income for the family if properly managed.

Management Practices
Pecan trees of bearing age except those varieties susceptible to pecan scab can be brought back into production through good production practices.

1. Keep soil pH at 6.5 by applying liming materials (agricultural limestone, basic slag, lime dust, etc.) in accordance with soil test recommendations. That's the only way to determine the amount of liming material needed to adjust your soil to the desired pH level. Liming materials can be applied any time during the year, but the best time is in late fall or early winter.

2. Apply nitrogen in January or February each year to encourage new growth. Yield of nuts is directly related to annual twig growth. For the Stuart variety to 9 inches of annual twig growth are needed to store enough food for fruiting buds to form and produce catkins (male flowers) and female flowers (young nuts) and to produce enough leaves to set, size and mature nuts. How much nitrogen is needed annually to encourage this type of growth? Our general recommendation is to apply 1/2 pound of actual nitrogen (N) per tree per year of age up to 8 to 10 pounds of nitrogen per bearing tree. It takes 25 to 30 pounds of ammonium nitrate per tree to supply this much nitrogen (N).

3. Add enough zinc each year to prevent rosette or zinc deficiency. It takes 2 to 3 pounds of 36 percent zinc sulfate per tree per year to prevent this nutritional deficiency. Apply zinc in early spring in a continuous band all the way around the tree from the trunk to the spread of the branches.

4. Help control pests through sanitation. Most of you do not have equipment to adequately spray large pecan trees. The best thing to do is to practice sanitation and keep trees as vigorous as possible through a good lime and fertility program. Here are a few pests that homeowners can help control through sanitation.

a. Fall webworms. When webs are first spotted, burn them out with newspaper tied to the end of a fishing pole.

b. Twig girdlers. These insects reproduce in dead wood. When the female lays her eggs in a twig, she girdles the limb so that it will die and fall to the ground. Pick up these twigs and burn them to prevent new generations.

c. Pecan weevil. Female weevils drill into maturing nuts and lay eggs so that the larvae can mature inside the nuts. Rake up damaged nuts and leaves and burn them. This will also help prevent pecan scab and other diseases. A ground application of pecan has provided some control of pecan weevils in a few locations.

d. Walnut caterpillars. Walnut caterpillars and/or egg cases can be found on trunks of pecan trees or on lower limbs. Spray them with an insecticide for control of worms.

You must remember that once bearing age pecan trees are neglected, it takes about three years to get them back into production. Omission of any of the practices recommended in any one year can keep trees out of production for another 3 years. Therefore, it is urgent that a complete fertility and sanitation program must be carried out each year. Also recommend that all pecan varieties tend toward alternate bearing and you won't produce a good crop every year. But you are not likely to produce a good crop any year unless you follow good management practices every year.

Suggested varieties for home plantings are Elliott, Jackson, autumn, Cape Fear is a good pollinator for these varieties, but is has only moderate resistance to scab. You might consider planting the Cape Fear variety as a pollinator.

CHIMNEY CARE

All chimneys, if they are used, should be inspected and cleaned at least once a year. Before cold weather gets here is a good time to do this. Here are some tips if you decide to do the job yourself.

You will need a stiff wire brush, ladder, rope the length of the chimney, plastic sheets, tarp and drop cloths, tape, a 15-20 pound weight, goggles, flashlight, small broom, small shovel, bucket, dust mask for your mouth and non-skid shoes. Cover all furniture and carpet with dropcloths. Remove the damper in the chimney and tightly tape a plastic sheet or tarp over the fireplace opening. Climb to the roof and check the chimney for loose bricks. Make these repairs before the flue is cleaned. Tie the rope to the brush, leaving enough to tie the weights below the brush. Hold the other end of the rope and lower the weights and brush into the chimney. Push the brush up and down the entire length of the chimney at least 6 times or until creosote units falling

USE LESS SALT

Read labels when purchasing packaged foods. Learn to recognize ingredients that contain sodium (salt). Salt, soy sauce, salt brine and any ingredient with sodium or soda as part of its name contains sodium. Empty the salt shaker! Reach for an empty shaker until you have shaken the habit. Try gradually reducing the table salt in your favorite recipes. Cook a day ahead when making stews, soups, sauces, slaws and salads and use less salt. This gives the natural flavors of foods time to blend.

COUNTRY CRAFT SHOW :

My Guilt Trip

by Mrs. Faye Brown

There's no doubt that Fall has arrived in Alabama. Come Saturdays the men are either watching ball, hunting doves or shooting cans on the posts. The women are also jumping at the chance to get away from the kids on the weekend by taking in every fall festival with a 200 mile radius. There are plenty to choose from: Craft shows, bake sales, bazaars, trade days, county fairs, and they're called everything from 'The Kudzu Festival' to 'Mule Days'.

My Saturdays are usually set aside for laundry but I recently threw caution to the wind and took in a craft show. It proved to be one big guilt trip and I'm not talking about how the dirty laundry overflowed from the bathroom into the hallway that weekend, either.

Things could've been different, though, if I'd not gone with my Mama and two sisters. Alone, I could have taken a real memory trip near the wood stove by stuffing myself with the homemade biscuits and country ham. Then I could've skirted, admiring the crafters, the quilters and the potters. I could've stopped near the blacksmith and reminisced about Grandpa Porter foraging horseshoes and plows. The lady in a long dress cooking over hot coals could've been my Great Aunt Harriet and I could've again been the child sharing delicious cornbread from her dutch oven.

After a relaxing time I could've gone home thanking God for modern inventions: for microwaves and Hardees, for my grocer's produce aisle replacing horseshoes and the plow. For the revolutionized textile industry and blessed K-Mart where I'd been able recently, for only $14.95, to purchase a warm comforter, a beautiful facsimile of the coveted Lone Star Quilt, complete with 1,000 colorful squares and tiny imprinted stitches. Then I could've, with a clear conscience, spent the year required to make such a quilt sitting behind my typewriter, happy as a dead pig in the sunbath.

But no...I chose to go with my kin. Right off the bat my sister Trillie had to rush to an exhibition of hand painted items. Being an artist herself, she cocked her head to one side, studiously, clucked her tongue and walked across the way. While I paid $13.00 for a three-inch duck she paid 25 cents for the identical wooden piece, unfinished. Then she guessed she'd get ten more, to paint for Christmas gifts. I felt the need for something old to drink.

Next we came to the huge section of displayed quilts. They all started oohing and aaaaauing and examining the entire hundreds there. I sauntered over and purchased blueberry muffins, made from scratch, and hot yeast rolls to help pass the time. Before we left the area Betty was on first name basis with every quilter present, knew the history of every pattern exhibited and had exchanged addresses for future swapping of the same.

While Mama inspected the crochet I bought a dish of great hominy made with ash. I've been cracking bread on the side. After scrutinizing the shawls, afghans and bedspreads, Mana declared, rightly so, that her work outshone them all. But she did see a few things she thought she'd try when she got home.

About the only input I had during the lively day was when I sheepishly admitted that I'd recently given over (to my dog) a ragged ancient quilt just like the lady had used to make the weird stuffed cats which were, incidentally, going like hotcakes for $20.00. This, plus the fact that I'd just burned a huge field of excellent broom sage from which I might have cleared $200.00 on brooms let me in for a barrage of family, YOU DIDN'TS !!!

Three days later I visited my Mom and sisters. I found them all at Betty's with Trillie excitedly painting her ducks. Betty introduced the five friends quilting at the frame, apologizing about that being their third day on the Cathedral Window. Mama was well into her ninth crocheted angel for the top of Christmas trees. Just like she'd guessed, she'd been able to figure them out, without a pattern. Amid their prattle of "such a joy to maintain our heritage" and "amazing how much we all got from the craft show," I sneaked out.

"Sure we all got a lot," I mumbled, heading for my shrink appointment. "I got a $13.00 duck, five extra pounds and a nagging guilt complex."

Kinston

4-H News

The 14 members of Kinston Elementary School's 6th grade Boys 4-H Club learned about soil at the November meeting on Tuesday.

Mr. Foshee, our 4-H Assistant County Agent, told us about different types of soil in Coffee County and the best use of each.

A soil containing clay is better for farming, because clay particles attract fertilizer. A soil containing clay will have a sticky texture. The longer the ribbon you can make with the soil, the more clay it contains.

Three soils that contain much clay and are good farming soils are Orangeburg, mainly Kinston, Red Bay and Livermore, mainly New Brockton.

Projects that are due next month are car, cookie and woodworking contests. Posters and photographs from the October meetings contests were collected.

There will be a Christmas workshop from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, December 8, in the Community Room of the Farm Center Complex in New Brockton. The cost is $1.00.
